

Helping a new classmate

This is the first day for Amy at her new school. Miss Wong told Amy to introduce herself. She said, 'Hello. I am Amy. Nice to meet you!' Miss Wong said with a warm smile, 'Welcome, Amy!'

Then, she took a sit next to Bonnie. The bell rang. It was time for the first lesson.

Suddenly, Amy said, 'Oh no! Where's my textbook.' Amy was so worried that her hands were shaking. When Bonnie saw this lent a helping hand. She told Amy to read her textbook together.

At recess, Amy said, 'Thank you very much, Bonnie! Also, can we be friends?' Bonnie answered, 'Of course!' They played and chatted together. They were as happy as birds in spring.

After school, Bonnie visited Amy's home. It was big, pretty and tidy. They do homework, had tea and watched TV together. They were over the moon. When it was time for Bonnie to go home, they waved goodbye and said, 'See you next week at school!' What a day!
