

Classroom Cleaning Day

It is Classroom Cleaning Day. Ben is talking to Mary. He says, 'Let's clean everything once! We need a towel, a broom, and so on. Maybe more? I don't know.' Mary says, 'That's I think.'

The teacher says, 'Let's start!' And everyone starts cleaning. Ben chooses to clean the tables. Mary is mopping the floor. Some students are cleaning the tables too! Some are also mopping the floor. Ben's friend Amy is cleaning the blackboard. They are all over the moon!

Suddenly, they see a bee! Everyone is as scared as a rabbit. The girls even cry! Amy is extra scared because she has bread and honey in her lunchbox!

Ben does not tell his teacher. He takes the broomstick to kill the bee. 'Ouch!' Ben cries. The bee is so fast. He can't kill the bee. The bee is so fast. He can't kill the bee. The bee stings him. He learns that when he sees a bee, he should stay still.
