

Free writing (4)_ An email_ By Cheyenne Fan

Hi Daisy,

Yesterday was my school Christmas party. In the morning, I did my morning routine and went to a nearby stationery shop. I looked around in the shop. A desk calendar caught my eye. It was pretty and cheap, so with no hesitation, I bought the calendar.

I got on the school bus and took the seats with one of my classmates. I was so deep into the conversation with my classmate, I forgot the gift. I got off the school bus, but leaving the gift behind.

I went inside the classroom with confidence, knowing my gift would be the best! When it was time to put the Christmas gifts on the table, I realized that I forgot my gift! I was as scared as mouse. When I was about to cry, the bus driver came in and gave the gift back to me! I said thank you profusely to the bus driver! I even wrote him a thank you card! I must always remember to keep an eye on my belongings.

Love,

Evan