Hi Roy,

How are you? Let me tell you about my bus ride yesterday.

Yesterday, I went home by bus after school. There was a notice 'No eating' on the bus but two boys sitting opposite me were still eating fish balls! They enjoyed it very much.

Then, a woman wearing a mask walked to me. I saw her and offered her my seat. The boys laughed noisily and held up the fish balls. The sauce spilled everywhere.

Suddenly, one of the boys dropped his fish ball, it landed on my left leg! The bus and my sock got dirty. I was upset. It's hard to wash! How could I explain to my mum!

That boy apologized to me wholeheartedly and walked away with the other boy. I was sad. I thought they were not polite enough! What a bad day!

Love,

Judy.
