

J.6D Elkie Wong King Yin (17)

Free Writing (1)

Hi Roy,

How have you been lately? Let me tell you about my terrible bus ride yesterday.

Since the class was dismissed, I took the bus to go home. When I got on the bus, it was crowded with people. Luckily, I found a seat. There were two boys sitting opposite me. They ate fish balls and one of them also drank drinks. But I saw a sign, 'No eating or drinking on the bus.' I was angry but could do nothing and had no choice.

Ten minutes later, I accidentally saw my aunt who just got on the bus. I was on cloud nine because she always treats me nicely. Although we were as happy as clams, I found she was sick and coughed frequently. I was worried that I lifted her up to sit on my seat.

When I was about to lift her up, one of the boys dropped his fish balls by accident and messed up my clothes. I was so annoyed that I kicked away the fish balls immediately. At that moment, everyone on the bus looked at me and came to comfort me. Since they boys were very young, they felt no remorse. They just cried and laughed at me. I was as furious as a bear.

Out of the blue, their mum walked to them and scolded them angrily.

At last, the boys and their mum said sorry to us and promised me to pay me some money for compensating my school uniform.

It was such an unlucky and terrible day today!

Please write soon.

Yours,
Judy