

Dear Max,

I want to share the book 'You are awesome' with you because the boy named 'kid awesome' who plays table tennis made me think of you.

This story is all about making us feel more confident in ourselves. At the very beginning of this book, the writer compares kid average and kid awesome. The things they had were the same, an old table tennis table, encouraging parents and a competitive brother. The only difference is their mindset, kid average has a fixed mindset and kid awesome on the other hand has a growth mindset. Just like kid awesome, only when you never give up and always learn from your mistakes helps you become better at table tennis. You will never back down when playing with people better than you. I hope we can learn from kid awesome and have the heart of a lion.

As Serena Williams said, 'I really think a champion is defined not by their wins but by how they can recover when they fall.' I am giving this book to you to encourage you not to feel blue or give up even when you fail. This book inspires me to become a perseverant person and get the real key to success.

I hope you can do your best in the table tennis competition next week and be the real champion!

Best wishes,
Melibelle
